

Have your say on potential development in Ryedale

Share your views on the sites submitted

Our Local Plan sets out where future development will take place in Ryedale. Ryedale District Council recently held a 'call for sites' as part of a review of our Local Plan and landowners have submitted a number of sites.

Now we're looking at the suitability of these sites for development which will include detailed site assessment with community and stakeholder engagement and further consultation.

We want you to look at the sites, what they propose and share your thoughts on what this could mean for your town or village.

That way we can get the balance of future development right in Ryedale.
